Pros and Cons of Using Artificial Turf for Yards in Las Vegas

Title: Pros and Cons of Using Artificial Turf for Yards in Las Vegas

The city of Las Vegas, known worldwide for its vibrant nightlife and bustling casinos, also bears a peculiar climate that homeowners must consider when landscaping their yards. In recent years, the use of artificial turf as a replacement for natural grass has become increasingly popular among residents. However, like any other investment decision, it's crucial to weigh the pros and cons before opting for artificial turf in your yard.

Firstly, let's delve into the advantages that make artificial turf an appealing choice for many.

Artificial grass offers excellent durability and resilience. Given Las Vegas's harsh weather conditions, sustaining natural grass can be challenging. Herein lies one of the main strengths of artificial turf - it stands strong regardless of weather conditions or heavy foot traffic.

Secondly, artificial turf requires little to no maintenance compared to natural grass. There's no need to worry about watering or mowing; thus saving time and energy spent on gardening chores.

Thirdly, water conservation is another significant advantage. Considering Las Vegas' desert climate with minimal rainfall throughout the year, this feature cannot be overstated enough.

Despite these benefits, potential drawbacks should not be overlooked while selecting the best fake turf for yards in Las Vegas.

One downside is that initial installation costs can be higher than those associated with planting natural grass seeds or sods. However, long-term savings due to lower maintenance may offset this initial outlay over time.

Another con is that synthetic materials don't offer the same cooling effect as living plants do. This could potentially lead to increased air-conditioning costs during those hot summer months in Las Vegas.

Furthermore, nothing can replicate the authentic feel and smell of real grass underfoot – something some homeowners might miss when opting for artificial turf.

Lastly but importantly are environmental concerns related to plastic usage and disposal related issues tied with synthetic turfs which are worth considering too.

In conclusion, while artificial turf offers numerous benefits such as durability, less maintenance, and water conservation that are attractive to Las Vegas homeowners, it also comes with some drawbacks including higher initial costs, potential heat retention, lack of authentic feel and environmental concerns. Therefore, the decision should be made based on individual needs, preferences and the environmental impact one is willing to bear.

Maintenance Tips for Preserving Your Las Vegas Artificial Turf

If you're a resident of the bustling city of Las Vegas, you've probably considered using artificial turf in your yard. I mean, who wouldn't? It's a perfect solution to the desert climate! Artificial turf stays green all year round, requires less maintenance than natural grass and saves on water bills. However, even though it's fake, it doesn't mean you completely ignore its upkeep. So folks, here are some maintenance tips to keep your Las Vegas artificial turf fresh and lifelike for years.

First things first; don't underestimate the power of a good ol' rinse. Now you might be thinking (and rightly so), "But isn't one of the benefits of artificial grass that it doesn't need watering?" Well yes, but hear me out. Rinsing isn't necessarily for the "health" of your artificial turf. Instead, it helps to remove small bits of debris or dust that could make your lawn appear dull or dirty over time. A quick spray-down once every week should suffice - it ain't rocket science!

Next up is brushing. No, not your teeth (though that's important too) - we're talking about your lawn! Brushing helps prevent matting and keeps those synthetic blades upright and looking natural. However, don't go using any old brush; a stiff bristle broom is what you need (avoid metal bristles at all costs). And remember: always brush in the opposite direction of the fibers to avoid damaging them.

Lastly – and this is crucial – avoid placing sharp objects or heavy furniture directly onto your turf to prevent damage or indentations from forming.

Now let's talk about what NOT to do! Avoid smoking near your artificial grass - heat sources can cause serious damage to synthetic materials. Also, try not to use corrosive chemicals when cleaning up spills or messes; these can degrade the quality of your turf over time.

So there you have it folks, a few tips to keep your Las Vegas artificial turf looking top-notch. Remember, even though it's not real grass, it doesn't mean you can neglect its maintenance. With a little bit of effort, your artificial lawn can look as good as new for years to come. So go on then, get out there and show your lawn some love! Stay green, Vegas!

Title: Case Studies: Transformation of Las Vegas Yards with High-Quality Fake Turf

The constant evolution of technology has significantly impacted various sectors, including landscaping. The remarkable transformation in the yards across Las Vegas through the utilization of high-quality fake turf represents a classic testament to this development. This essay delves into a few case studies that demonstrate the efficacy and benefits of using artificial grass for yards in Las Vegas.

One notable example is a residential property located in Henderson, a suburb within the metropolitan area of Las Vegas. Initially, this home had natural grass that required significant maintenance involving watering, mowing, and fertilizing. However, after switching to high-quality fake turf from one of the top providers in Las Vegas, the homeowners reported savings on water bills and time spent on yard maintenance. Moreover, their lawn remained lush green throughout the year - an aesthetic appeal they couldn't achieve with natural grass due to Nevada's arid climate.

In another case study from Summerlin, an upscale community in Las Vegas known for its exquisite housing properties and beautifully manicured lawns, homeowners opted for artificial turf installation. Their decision was driven by environmental concerns as well as financial considerations related to water conservation penalties imposed during droughts. They found that not only did they save on hefty fines but also enjoyed a stunningly vibrant lawn all year round without much upkeep.

Commercial properties have also embraced high-quality fake turf to improve their landscape aesthetics while reducing costs associated with maintenance and irrigation systems used for real grass. A prominent hotel on the Strip replaced its large natural grass courtyard with synthetic turf. This change led to significant water conservation - an important consideration given Nevada's desert environment - while maintaining an appealing look for guests.

Lastly, several public spaces such as parks and schools within Clark County are opting for high-quality fake turf due to its durability against heavy foot traffic and low-maintenance needs compared to traditional grass fields.

These case studies illustrate how transforming yards with high-quality fake turf has become a practical and popular choice for many Las Vegas residents. It saves on maintenance costs, conserves water, is durable in the face of heavy use, and provides an appealing green aesthetic throughout the year. As such, it is safe to conclude that artificial grass can be considered as one of the best options for yards in Las Vegas.

About Landscaping

"Landscapers" redirects here. For the 2021 true crime TV series, see Landscapers (TV series).

Landscaping an elementary school courtyard in the city of Kuching

Landscaping refers to any activity that modifies the visible features of an area of land, including the following:

1. Living elements, such as flora or fauna; or what is commonly called gardening, the art and craft of growing plants with a goal of creating a beauty within the landscape.
2. Natural abiotic elements, such as landforms, terrain shape and elevation, or bodies of water.
3. Abstract elements, such as the weather and lighting conditions.

Landscaping requires a certain understanding of horticulture and artistic design, but is not limited to plants and horticulture. Sculpting land to enhance usability (patio, walkways, ponds, water features) are also examples of landscaping being used. When intended as purely an aesthetic change, the term Ornamental Landscaping is used.^[1]

Often, designers refer to landscaping as an extension of rooms in your house (each one has a function). Outdoor spaces have a vast amount of flexibility as far as materials and function. It is often said the only limitation to outdoor space is one's imagination.

Understanding the land

[edit]

Construction requires both study and observation, and the process varies in different parts of the world. Landscaping varies according to different regions.^[2] Therefore, normally local natural experts are recommended if it is done for the first time. Understanding of the site is one of the chief essentials for successful landscaping.^[3] Different natural features and phenomena, like the position of the sun, terrain, topography, soil qualities, prevailing winds, depth of the frost line, and the system of native flora and fauna must be taken into account.^[4] Sometimes the land is not fit for landscaping. In order to landscape it, the land must be reshaped to direct water for appropriate drainage. This reshaping of land is called grading.^[4] Sometimes in large landscaping projects like, parks, sports fields and reserves soil may need to be improved by adding nutrients for growth of plants or turf, this process is called soil amelioration.^[5]

Removal of earth from the land is called cutting while when earth is added to the slope, it is called filling. Sometimes the grading process may involve removal of excessive waste (landfills), soil and rocks, so designers should take into account while in the planning stage. [6][7]

Additional information

At the start, the landscaping contractor issues a statement which is a rough design and layout of what could be done with the land in order to achieve the desired outcome. [4] Different pencils are required to make graphics of the picture. Landscaping has become more technological than natural, as few projects begin without bulldozers, lawnmowers, or chainsaws. [2] Different areas have different qualities of plants. When growing new grass, it should ideally be done in the spring and the fall seasons to maximize growth and to minimize the spread of weeds. It is generally agreed that organic or chemical fertilizers are required for good plant growth. Some landscapers prefer to use mix gravel with rocks of varying sizes to add interest in large areas. [8]

About Landscape maintenance

One example of a maintained landscape from Beaverton, Oregon

Landscape maintenance (or groundskeeping) is the art and vocation of keeping a landscape healthy, clean, safe and attractive, typically in a garden, yard, park, institutional setting or estate. Using tools, supplies, knowledge, physical exertion and skills, a groundskeeper may plan or carry out annual plantings and harvestings, periodic weeding and fertilizing, other gardening, lawn care, snow removal, driveway and path maintenance, shrub pruning, topiary, lighting, fencing, swimming pool care, runoff drainage, and irrigation, and other jobs for protecting and improving the topsoil, plants, and garden accessories.

Groundskeepers may also deal with local animals (including birds, rodents, reptiles, insects, and domestic animals or pets), and create means to attract or repel them, as desired or necessary. A garden may also be designed to include exotic animals, such as a koi pond. In larger estates, groundskeepers may be responsible for providing and maintaining habitat for wild animals.

Landscape maintenance industry

[edit]

According to IBISWorld, who published an article in September 2019 on the Landscape Industry in the US, the Landscaping Industry is worth $98.8 billion. From 2014-2019, the industry had an annual growth of 4.4%, but it is estimated that from 2019- 2024 the industry will decrease to only a 1.5% annual growth. The Industry is suspected to have a 1.2% growth in the number of businesses and low entry barriers for new companies. Due to the continuous and steady growth of this industry, competition for new businesses is high.^[1]

In May 2017, the U.S Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS), estimated that 912,360 "Landscape and Groundskeeping Workers" maintained jobs under this job title. These workers have an average annual pay of $29,700 paired with a mean hourly wage of about $14.28. These jobs hold a variety of hourly rates ranging from $9.59, which equals an annual pay of $19,960 a year, to $20.61, which holds an annual pay of $42,870.^[2] The exact description of this job can change solely based on the company that has posted the job description, but according to the BLS, " Landscape or maintain grounds of property using hand or power tools or equipment. Workers typically perform a variety of tasks, which may include any combination of the following: sod laying, mowing, trimming, planting, watering, fertilizing, digging, raking, sprinkler installation, and installation of mortarless segmental concrete masonry wall units." The BLS also claims that this job title excludes "Farmworkers and Laborers, Crop, Nursery, and Greenhouse (45-2092)."

Demand for landscaping and pool installation work increased during the COVID-19 pandemic due to the increased number of remote workers spending time in their homes.

Landscape maintenance encompasses not only the routine upkeep of outdoor areas but also integrated property care solutions that enhance both aesthetics and functionality. For example, companies like KD Landscaping in Syracuse, New York, illustrate this broader approach by offering comprehensive property maintenance services. These services include landscape design and installation, drainage management, deck and fence construction, and other specialized repairs aimed at protecting property value and preventing damage. This integrated model ensures that landscapes are not only well-maintained but also resilient against environmental challenges, thereby contributing to long-term sustainability and enhanced curb appeal.

Boulder City is a city[5] in Clark County, Nevada, United States.[4] It is approximately 26 miles (42 km) southeast of Las Vegas. As of the 2020 census, the population of Boulder City was 14,885.[6] The city took its name from Boulder Canyon.[7] Boulder City is one of only two places in Nevada that prohibits gambling, the other being the town of Panaca.^[8]

History

[edit]

Beginnings as federal company town

[edit]

The land upon which Boulder City was founded was a harsh, desert environment. Its sole reason for existence was the need to house workers contracted to build the Hoover Dam on the Colorado River (known commonly as Boulder Dam from 1933 to 1947, when it was officially renamed Hoover Dam by a joint resolution of Congress). Men hoping for work on the dam project had begun settling along the river in tents soon after the precise site for the dam had been chosen by the Bureau of Reclamation in 1930. Their ramshackle edifices were collectively known as "Ragtown".^{[9][10]}

June 30, 1932

Boulder City was originally built in 1931 by the Bureau of Reclamation and Six Companies, Inc. as housing for workers who were building the Hoover Dam.

The sheer scale of the dam and duration of the project required the Bureau of Reclamation to consider the construction of a semi-permanent town rather than a temporary arrangement.^[11] Boulder City was exceptionally rare as an example of a town fully planned under government supervision. This is unlike 19th century privately funded company town examples found in the United Kingdom, such as Port Sunlight, or in the United States, such as Pullman, Chicago.

Early years: 1930–1934

[edit]

Boulder City, 1932

Boulder City was carefully planned through federal supervision as a model community, with Dutch-born urban architect Saco Rienk de Boer contracted to plan it. DeBoer had been a planner for Denver, Colorado, and was to design many towns and suburbs around the Rocky Mountain region. Because the Hoover Dam project itself represented a focus for optimism for a country suffering from the effects of the Great Depression, the town itself was to be an additional manifestation of this optimism. There was to be an emphasis on a clean-living environment for dam workers. The plan submitted by DeBoer in 1930 was formal and symmetrical with a park and the Bureau of Reclamation building at the termination of the two main axes.^[12] The plan was deemed too expensive to carry out in its original form and was modified to allow for more regular block sizes. Nevertheless, its allowance for public space and copious amounts of landscaping earned it the moniker "Nevada's Garden City".^[13] The provision of green landscape was another expression of the Bureau of Reclamation's "mission to reclaim and 'green' the American West."^[14]

The town was designed to house approximately 5,000 workers. The status of the workers on the Hoover Dam was reflected in their house sizes and locations. The most important employees had their residences on top of the hill nearer the apex. Managers were housed further down the hill, and dwellings for manual laborers were located furthest away from the public buildings and parks.^[15] The most radically modified portions of DeBoer's plan were in these lower-class residential blocks, where open space and parks were largely eliminated.

Commercial development was restricted and severely regulated under Sims Ely, the city manager. There were limits to the number of different types of stores allowed in the city, and all who wished to begin a business were screened for character and financial viability.^[16] On the other hand, there was no provision for schools in the burgeoning city, probably because the Bureau of Reclamation expected that single male workers would populate the town.^[17] The town made do with makeshift schoolrooms until the city won the right for state-funded schools to be established on the federal reservation upon which Boulder City was situated. No hospitals were provided in the city either. Injured workers had to travel 33 miles (53 km) to Las Vegas Hospital, and when a hospital was established in the city, females were not admitted for a number of years.[18]

Similarity to earlier company towns

[edit]

Boulder Theatre (1932), the first air-conditioned building in the city, is listed on the National Register of Historic Places. [19]

Like early model company town Port Sunlight, the workers of Boulder City were under strict monitoring: alcohol was prohibited in the town until 1969 and gambling has been prohibited since the city's outset.[20] The city was founded during the Prohibition era. Boulder Theatre, established in 1931, meant that workers were not obliged to travel to Las Vegas for amusements. Such measures were common for company towns dating back to the 19th century, since sober workers surrounded by their own gardens and provided with appropriate entertainment would be more productive during their working days.

In the case of Boulder City, the prohibition of alcohol and gambling was at least partly due to the proximity of Las Vegas, which had a notoriously rowdy vice district.[21] Visitors to Boulder City were admitted by permit, and by 1932, there was a gatehouse through which all visitors had to pass.[22]

Trendsetter for decentralization

[edit]

While the establishment of Boulder City occurred while Las Vegas was modest in size with approximately 5,000 inhabitants, it was effectively the beginning of the fragmentation of cities in the region of Clark County. This move to disperse to multiple centers predated the decentralization movement of the 1970s. The nearby city of Henderson, founded in 1943 and based around the magnesium industry, was another early example of decentralization before Clark County had a significant population: "...the region began to decentralize and regroup as a multi-centered area early in its history." [23] The independent governments of

Henderson, North Las Vegas, Las Vegas, and Boulder City have perpetuated the fragmented nature of the region, giving each city its individual character, as well as generally stymieing the outward growth of these cities.[24]

1960s onwards

The government did not relinquish control of Boulder City until 1959, when the town was incorporated. Boulder City's incorporation ceremony took place on January 4, 1960. The city council selected pharmacist Robert N. Broadbent as the city's first mayor.

The city charter, approved by the residents, prohibited gambling within the city limits. This provision still exists, making Boulder City one of only two locations in Nevada where gambling is illegal (the other is the town of Panaca).[25] The Hoover Dam Lodge hotel-casino permits gambling and has a Boulder City mailing address, but it is located on a parcel of private land within the boundaries of the Lake Mead National Recreation Area and thus not within city limits.

Another casino on the other end of town is the Railroad Pass Hotel and Casino, which has a Boulder City telephone prefix, but is within the boundary of the neighboring city of Henderson.

Alcohol sales were first permitted in 1969.[26]

On August 9, 2018, the Boulder City Bypass opened to the public as part of the Interstate 11 project.[27] The bypass is still within Boulder City's city limit, but bypasses the populated area. Initially, businesses and the populace were concerned that the bypass would have a negative effect on the local economy, though it seems that the opposite was true for some businesses.[28]

Geography

According to the United States Census Bureau, the city has a total area of 208.6 square miles (540.2 km²), of which 0.039 square miles (0.1 km²), or 0.02%, is water.[29] This ranks Boulder City as the largest city in Nevada by land area and 35th in the country, but gives it a low density rate of only about 72 people per square mile.[30]

Boulder City maintains strict controls on growth, limited to 120 single- or multi-family residential building permits for new construction per year. Hotels are also restricted to no more than 35 rooms. These restrictions are defined in the city code of Boulder City.[31]

Climate

[edit]

According to the Köppen climate classification system, Boulder City has a hot desert climate (Köppen type BWh)

Hoover Dam in marketing

Boulder City and Lake Mead, with Hoover Dam at center right.

The proximity of Hoover Dam to Boulder City is reflected in many of the businesses in the historic Downtown district, which is home to the Boulder Dam Hotel, home of the Boulder City/Hoover Dam Museum. (The hotel is named after the dam's former name.)

Making a pun on the word "damn" is also popular. The Boulder City Chamber of Commerce has used the slogan "Best City By A Dam Site" in promotions, and the city hosts an annual festival of short subject films dubbed "The Dam Short Film Festival". Boulder City also hosts a number of Hoover Dam related events such as "That Dam Guy Stole My Dam Car" car race and "Get Off My Dam Lawn" gardening festival.

Summerlin is a community in the Las Vegas Valley of Southern Nevada. It lies at the edge of the Spring Mountains and Red Rock Canyon to the west; it includes the census-designated place of Summerlin South, is partly within the official city limits of Las Vegas and partly within unincorporated Clark County. This community occupies over 22,500 acres and holds over 230 parks, more than two dozen public and private schools, 14 houses of worship, ten golf courses, three resort hotels, recreational facilities, retail and entertainment centers, well-established office parks, a medical center, and more.^[1]

The community is divided into three associations (North, South, and West), which oversee two dozen commercial and residential villages.

At the time of the 2010 census, Summerlin's population was nearly 100,000, having risen from 59,000 residents in the year 2000.^[2]

Summerlin was named after Jean Amelia Summerlin, the grandmother of billionaire land developer Howard Hughes. The Howard Hughes Corporation maintains ownership of the master-planned community, along with Downtown Summerlin (the community's premier shopping, dining, and entertainment district) and the Las Vegas Ballpark (home of the Las Vegas Aviators minor league baseball team, which is named in Hughes' honor).

History

In 1952, the film director, aviator, and casino mogul Howard Hughes purchased 25,000 acres (10,000 ha) of land in Southern Nevada, making him the Las Vegas Valley's largest landowner.^[3] Despite his initial intentions, he ultimately chose not to relocate his company to Nevada, so the purchased land remained undeveloped and empty for decades. After Hughes died of kidney failure in 1976, the Summa Corporation was organized by his heirs to oversee his vast business empire and land holdings. In 1988, the corporation announced that they would be developing the empty acres of land into a master-planned commercial and residential community. They named the project "Summerlin", after Hughes' paternal grandmother, Jean Amelia Summerlin.^[4]

In preparation for this large-scale development, Summa Corporation made a deal with the Bureau of Land Management in which they traded 5,000 acres of environmentally sensitive land for 3,000 acres of land better suited for development. After this environmental concern was addressed, development began. By the end of 1990, the construction of Summerlin's first residential village, park, and school had been completed.[4] In 1994, Summa Corporation rebranded itself as the Howard Hughes Corporation and continued to develop new Summerlin villages.

New home construction continued to boom through the turn of the century. From 1997 to 2007, Summerlin was consistently ranked as the #1 community in the nation for new home sales.[4] The Great Recession caused a temporary slow-down in construction, but signs of revival became especially apparent in 2014, when Downtown Summerlin opened, bringing 106 acres of shopping, dining, and entertainment to Summerlin residents. Residential development also saw a great revival following the recession, and by 2016, Summerlin was once again one of the top communities in America for new home sales.[4]

Summerlin is still a growing community. As of 2018, over two dozen commercial and residential villages have been constructed, with over 6,000 acres still available for future development.[4]

Geography

[edit]

Climate

[edit]

Summerlin has a hot desert climate typical of the Mojave Desert in which it lies (Köppen climate classification: BWh).

Summers tend to be very hot and very dry, with daily highs often exceeding 100 °F (38 °C); temperatures as high as 118 degrees have been observed. The spring and fall seasons are generally sunny, warm, and dry, with daily highs in the 70s and 80s. Winters tend to be cool and windy, with daily highs in the 50s; temperatures seldom drop below freezing, and snowfall is rare, but some rain is common (especially in January and February).^[5]

Quality Work! Friendly and respectful individuals in all my interactions throughout the project. I had my yard renovated with new artificial turf, decorative rocks, and a few trees. It looks beautiful and everything was completed in a timely and efficient manner. Highly recommended (if it is in your budget).

Workers were great, no problem they did what was required, but the representative of your company mislead me on what was to be done, I showed pictures from a competitor landscaper, representative stated he could bet there , , .

price, but since it wasn't in contract, I was left with uncomplicated backyard , working with owner at present, so he's been outstanding working on this situation, as amount of rock was way off and the owner did increase the amount substantially to finish the front yard. another landscaper under contract to finish the backyard. Would like to add a comment the manger/owner of Las Vegas yard n block stands behind his words and helped me tremendously on finishing up the backyard,

My initial contact was with Ray, whom did an excellent job giving me an estimate on what I wanted done in my small yard and walkway., the guys that came out and did the work were superior. They did an excellent job. I'm very pleased with this company. I will highly recommend them to family and friends, and I will be using them in the near future for other little projects.

Eric and team did an amazing job. They worked with me for months while I got HOA approval for the project. Once they began working they were great, going over everything in detail and making sure things were perfect. This project included wall repair, stucco and paint repair, paver and turf installation. Extremely satisfied with this experience.

We recently had a very positive experience with Rock N Block for our fence replacement. The entire process went smoothly and exceeded our expectations. Harvey and his team were incredibly professional and communicative throughout the project providing much-needed assurance and peace of mind. The crew was punctual and maintained a diligent and respectful attitude that made the experience pleasant. The crew finished the project ahead of schedule, and the quality of their work is impressive; our new wall looks great! We recommend Rock N Block for any fencing needs and look forward to working with them again. Thank you, Harvey and crew, for a job well done!
